

Skills Assessment Matrix

An effective voluntary board needs a variety of skills and experience in order to deliver the organisation’s aims and objectives. Carrying out a skills audit is a simple but powerful way of getting to know the skills and experience present in your board members and also a way of highlighting those you may be lacking.

There are three stages in the process:

Our priorities	Skills, knowledge and experience needed by the board to achieve the organisation’s priorities and to adapt to the external environment
	Experience as an employer
Appoint first member of staff

Adapted from NCVO Trustee Recruitment Toolkit

Published on the CVS Falkirk Resource Library (www.cvsfalkirk.org.uk)

Version: 1.0

Published: October 2017    Review date: October 2018